

Kelvin Wu, AIM's new sales manager for South China AIM, a manufacturer of solder assembly materials for electronics assembly, PC fabrication, component manufacturing and other industries, announces that Kelvin Wu has joined its sales team in China effective immediately.

"I am pleased that Kelvin has joined our south China sales team," said David Suraski, Executive Vice President, Assembly Materials Division. "I am confident that Kelvin's expertise will help us as we continue to grow our business in this important market."

In his new role as sales manager in south China, Kelvin helps the AIM South China sales team set sales strategies, achieve growth potentials and conduct market analysis for the southern China market. He promotes AIM's full line of solder assembly materials to companies operating in southern China.

Kelvin is a highly qualified sales professional with more than 10 years of experience working for global solder materials suppliers. Kelvin is based in Shenzhen, China and may be reached at k wu@aimsolder.com
or + 86 (755) 29936487.

www.aimsolder.com